Staggered Terms on the Ballot

November is fast approaching. In addition to voting for candidates for Mayor and Town Council, there is also a voter referendum on the ballot for staggered terms.

Lewisville elected officials currently serve two-year terms and all seek election at the same time. The people of Lewisville get to decide whether or not they would like the Town Council Members to serve four-year terms and the members' seats be up for election in a staggered manner. If the referendum passes, the 2027 election would be the start of staggered terms, where the three highest vote getters would serve a 4-year term and the three who receive the lowest number of votes would serve a two-year term. Then, in the 2029 election, staggered terms would be in full effect, where all members elected serve four-year terms.

Keep in mind, this does not impact the Mayor seat. The Mayor's seat will remain a two-year term. So, if you feel the Town should convert their elections to staggered terms, or stay as they are currently, you will have a chance to vote on the matter on the November ballot.

Honoring 19 Years of Public Service: Stacy Howard Retires

After 19 years of dedicated service to the Town of Lewisville, Office Manager and Events Coordinator Stacy Howard has retired, leaving behind a legacy of compassion, community connection, and a can-do spirit.

"The one person that most everyone in Lewisville knows is Stacy Howard, either through meeting her at Town Hall or at one of the many events she organizes," Mayor Mike Horn said. "Her contributions to our town over the years have helped make Lewisville a great place to live. I am truly going to miss her cheerful and positive attitude and the ray of sunshine she brings every day to the office."

"Stacy has been a joy to work with over the years," Town Manager Stacy Tolbert said. "She has always been so supportive of other staff members and has never shied away from lending a helping hand, especially to our residents."

From Your Mayor Do Small Things

Several months ago, I stopped watching most of what is on commercial television, particularly the news. It isn't that I want to be ill-informed or unentertained, but I found that the continuous barrage of bad news, of which I could do little about, and programs of violence and hate against others, particularly animals, was crushing my spirit.

I began thinking about people with astonishing accomplishments like Leonardo da Vinci, who I'm sure didn't take a break every afternoon to watch "The Joy of Painting." Or Jane Goodall, who didn't excuse herself from her chimpanzees to tune in to "The Real Housewives of Atlanta." And I'm pretty sure that Frank Lloyd Wright wasn't an avid watcher of "Flip This House."

That's why I started flipping through the upper channels, the ones I never used to watch.

Amazingly, I found programs on history and biography. Of hope and valor. Programs of individual accomplishment, leadership, compassion, and vision give me inspiration and demonstrate how much one person can accomplish. I'm not forgetting PBS.

Of course, one of the outcomes of great viewing like this is that it reminds me how little I've accomplished comparatively so far in life.

But that's OK, because accomplishment is relative. Think about it. We all have many accomplishments in our lives within our family and our community. Not on the same scale as da Vinci, but accomplishments nonetheless.

I think about all those whom I have met as mayor who have made a difference in our little town. Individually, their lives held meaning, but collectively, they have shaped our community and made us who we are. Some have been doing so for generations.

Just take a moment to think about your life. What you do every day with your family, your church, your friends, and those clubs and organizations of which you are a member.

Now, think about your life to come, and what is ahead of you. We may not discover the cure for cancer or achieve world peace. But through our own acts of kindness, compassion, love, and respect for each other, we have the ability to accomplish something meaningful every day, right here at home.

Mother Teresa said, "Not all of us can do great things. But we can do small things with great love."

So today, go do small things with love. You never know, you may accomplish something much greater as a result. It's certainly worth trying.

As always, I welcome your comments.

Before joining the Town, Stacy held an executive role in consumer affairs for U.S. Airways. When the company downsized and offered her a relocation to Arizona, she made the decision to stay in Lewisville, the place she already called home.

"I was flipping through the Winston-Salem Journal and saw the opening," she said about the position with the Town. "I thought, 'I can do that, it's right up my alley!'"

She was hired for a customer service role, but quickly wore many hats, soon taking on the additional responsibility of events coordinator. This was a natural fit, given her prior experience in group sales and planning events at Fairfield Resort in Newbern, NC.

Working with the public has always been at the heart of Stacy's career. She has taken great pride in solving problems and making residents feel valued and heard.

"I want people to know I'm here for them," she said. She said she has loved watching our residents grow.

Her warmth and dedication were evident in every interaction. "My husband always tells me the only thing bigger than my smile is the size of my heart," she said. "From the beginning, the Lewisville community has embraced and welcomed me."

One of the most vivid examples of her dedication came after a medical procedure in 2018. She insisted her doctor release her early so she could work the Street Party & Food Truck Festival she had spent months organizing. The doctor agreed, but friends and coworkers know that there was little that could have kept her away.

"I'm looking forward to spending more time with my best friend, who also happens to be my husband, Tom," she said, "as well as future travel, more time for song writing, gardening, cooking, and serving my beloved community of Lewisville." Stacy plans to stay involved in the community. And yes, she'll still be front and center at concerts in the park.

It's been a joy and honor to serve my community. I am thankful for 19 fulfilling and remarkable years of service.

-Stacy Howard

"While she will be missed dearly, we wish her the best and hope she enjoys her retirement to the fullest," Tolbert said.

As she says farewell to the front desk at Town Hall after nearly two decades, we extend our heartfelt thanks to Stacy for the joy, warmth, and unwavering care she brought to Lewisville. She is truly one of a kind, and we have been lucky to call her a colleague and a friend.

A New Landmark is Taking Shape in Shallowford Square

There's something exciting coming to Lewisville! A brand-new, custom relief sculpture, titled "Shallow Ford", will soon become a permanent highlight of Shallowford Square.

To celebrate the addition of this artwork, the Town of Lewisville is hosting a public unveiling reception on October 6 at 5:30 p.m. at the Square, near the intersection of David McKee Street and the Great Wagon Road.

This one-of-a-kind artwork is being crafted by local Lewisville artist and blacksmith, Paul Spainhour, and his wife, artist and art educator Pat Spainhour.

The unveiling event will include brief remarks from the Mayor, artist and the Public Art Advisory Committee.

Whether you're an art lover, park regular, or curious to see something new, don't miss this great opportunity to see the piece and hear from the artist himself!

To learn more about this piece, other public art, and the Public Art Advisory Committee please visit lewisvillenc.net/art.

Lewisville Receives Finance Award for the Twentieth Time

The Town is pleased to announce that it was honored with the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2024, accepted by Finance Director Pam Orrell, CPA. Lewisville has received this award twenty times.

This award was established by the Government Finance Officers Association (GFOA) in 1945 to recognize state and local governments for excellence in financial reporting and transparency.

The Certificate of Achievement is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting, according to the GFOA.

This award "requires that state and local governments prepare annual comprehensive financial reports that evidence the spirit of transparency and full disclosure," according to Pam. She and her colleagues at the Town work hard to be constant good stewards of taxpayer funds, and this award exemplifies the fiscal discipline required for cost-effective delivery of services to our community.

Congratulations to Pam and everyone involved in continually keeping Lewisville to a high standard and always improving our town.

Tom Fowler Receives Town Award

The Town of Lewisville has presented the "I'm One of the Reasons Lewisville is a Great Place to Live" award to Tom Fowler for his community participation and impact.

Fowler's restoration of the Historic Roller Mill has helped it create a vibrant center for small businesses to flourish. His continuing efforts have helped preserve Lewisville's most prominent landmark.

While accepting the award, Fowler credited his son, Roger Fowler, with playing a large part in drawing in small businesses, developing the Roller Mill, and helping grow the economy in Lewisville. "Thank you from the both of us," Tom said. Roger has also been active in the community and served as a council member.

Tom has been in Lewisville for 40 years and helped build the first Town Hall building. He also has participated in committees to improve the area.

Tom accepted the award at the July Town Council meeting.

The end of summer is close at hand, which means Lewisville's fall Special Recycling Event is coming soon. Continue saving the weird items we collect that are not allowed in your curbside bins. Hopefully, the poster with the complete list of these items from the March/April newsletter is still on your fridge. If not, go to lewisvillenc.net/specialrecycling to view an online copy.

Plan to bring these items on Sat., October 18th, to our recycling event on David McKee Street by Shallowford Square.

Let's Talk Gweat Wagon Woad, dadgummit I did it again

I may have a hard time saying it, but as crazy as it sounds I'm excited about the Great Wagon Road (GWR) project. I mean – yes we're going to endure years of construction, and yes the process is ugly, and yes the old playground is gone, and yes I almost had a heart attack moving trees out of the way – but when it's finally done, I really think we're going to have something special. What we're seeing carved out of bare earth is a concept born decades ago in which Lewisville's leadership determined they'd control their own development destiny. Sprawling and widening and having growth inflicted upon us did not have to be our fate and they worked toward an alternative concept. This idea envisioned a thriving downtown core that was pedestrian friendly, convenient for traffic, and attractive to beneficial development. Eventually, the Town's plan became a North Carolina Department of Transportation (NCDOT) project and after years on the waiting list, we're finally seeing the vision.

Bulky Item Pickup Begins October 13, 6 a.m.

Lewisville's next Bulky Item Pickup collection will begin Monday, October 13. Lewisville residents wishing to participate in the pickup should have all acceptable bulky items curbside by 6 a.m. that day.

Bulky item collections are held twice a year and provide Lewisville residents with an easy and convenient way to dispose of unwanted items that are too large to fit within a trash cart and would otherwise be taken to the landfill.

Acceptable Items:	Prohibited Items:
Household furniture, lawn furniture, carpet, extra large rugs, bicycles, toilets, grills (no propane), mattresses (limit of 2 box springs per household), stoves, refrigerators, freezers (doors must be removed), water heaters, and dishwashers	Televisions, mirrors or any glass, household waste, yard waste, dead animals, tires, hazardous waste, chemicals, paint, microwaves, car motors, clothing, liquid waste, batteries, equipment with oil or gas, lumber scraps, and cardboard boxes

Visit lewisvillenc.net/bulky to see the full list of acceptable items for collection.

lowford Square. Take note: our new collection hours are 10am to 2pm, so you can sleep in an extra hour and still help the planet. We will be moving ECSC events to the parking area at the Mary Alice Warren Community Center in 2026. Enjoy summer's end, and we'll see you in the fall!

As always, be sure to double-check the Town website and social media for any changes to event details, including location, time, or accepted items.

As important as the original GWR was to local and early American history, very few communities still have any tangible connections to it. With this project we cement it as a permanent part of Lewisville identity. While the actual roadway construction is NCDOT, the Town will be contributing water and sewer installation, decorative street lighting, and (hopefully lots of) street trees. We're currently in the process of planning and funding a new playground at Shallowford Square in the large open area on the north side of the park and hope to break ground by the end of the year. You'll also see this is where we relocated seven of the big Crepe Myrtles that originally surrounded the former structure.

One more thing – there will be no one-way components with the new street alignment. That was an early design idea that was scrapped. Please feel free to get in touch with any other questions you may have about the GWR – and let's all be patient!

Please remember that pets and outside alcohol are prohibited at Shallowford Square. Coolers are allowed.

Volunteer Spotlight:
Asst. Chief David Miller

Meet Assistant Chief David Miller, a dedicated member of the Lewisville Fire Department since 1986, bringing with him over a decade of experience from the Mt. Tabor Volunteer Fire Department. His fire service journey began even earlier through a Fire/Rescue Explorer post, where he discovered not just a passion, but a calling.

"I knew right away this was what I wanted to do as a career. I've always felt a strong desire to serve my community," Assistant Chief Miller said.

Lewisville is lucky to have leaders like Assistant Chief Miller whose heart for service shines in everything that he does!

Charge into Fire Safety

October is Fire Prevention Month, and the National Fire Prevention Association's (NFPA) theme this year is "Charge into Fire Safety".

The theme is a reference to the alarming number of fires involving Lithium-ion batteries in residential structures. This includes batteries ranging from electric vehicles to smaller batteries, like those in household appliances and phones.

Studies show that these fires are typically caused by "battery abuse", which is the result of shock, improper charging, and off-brand batteries.

Important Tips:

- Use only the charger designed for the specific battery or device
- Unplug chargers when not in use
- Store batteries at room temperature in a dry location
- Never throw lithium-ion batteries in the trash or recycling bin
- Take used or damaged batteries to a certified battery recycling center
