Facing the terrors of the Fire Swamp in "The Princess Bride", Buttercup exclaims, "We'll never survive!" to which Westley replies, "Nonsense. You're only saying that because no one ever has."

It's always been one of my favorite quotes, and it was running through my mind as we stared down the prospect of moving seven large, mature crepe myrtles from one end of Shallowford Square to the other. It was this, or watch them be bulldozed for the new roadway. No one with any sense would attempt it – not trees this big, in late July of a brutal summer, with an excavator and a skid steer and some shovels. Fortunately, I have no sense. As you've all noticed, we've lost some trees here in Lewisville due to the Great Wagon Road project and we were determined not to lose these without a little fight. The Town has invested a quarter-cen-

New Customer Service Representative/Events Coordinator Joins Lewisville

The Town of Lewisville is pleased to welcome Michelle Bennett as our new Customer Service Representative/Events Coordinator.

"Michelle brings many things to the table, including experience in event planning, hospitality, and customer service," Town Manager Stacy Tolbert said. "Michelle started with the Town in August and has hit the ground running. Her positive attitude and warm smile are ready to greet you as you enter or call Town Hall. Be sure to say 'hi' to her at all of the Town events!"

"I was at the concert where Stacy Howard (the previous events coordinator) announced her retirement," Michelle said. "I turned to my friends and said, 'That's the job I need.'"

From Your Mayor See You Around Town

This is my last column for the Lewisville Citizen. Where do I start? After more than 70 columns over the years sharing the ideas and values that are so important to me, this column is by far my most difficult.

We have talked about kindness, compassion and generosity. We've talked about truth, honor and respect. Each word that I've written I've tried to put heart and soul into choosing the right meaning. Ideas are important. How we express them is even more so. I've tried not to be preachy or condescending. I've tried to show respect for your intelligence.

I hope the words I've chosen have inspired you to do better, to do good and to love more.

Being your mayor and a council member for 26 years has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life. So many of you have supported and encouraged me along this path we traveled together.

And so many of you have become dear friends. During these 26 years, I've cast hundreds of votes. Sometimes you have agreed with them, sometimes not so much, but I hope I've earned your respect, because with every vote I've tried to do what's best for our little town.

I've written a lot about community building and how important it is that we feel part of something bigger, more lasting, more important than just a collection of neighborhoods.

So many of you have been a part of this noble endeavor with me – through your work as volunteers on our boards and committees, in service on our council, through your participation in our community organizations and churches and, most importantly, the lasting impact you have made on our little town through your individual acts of caring for each other and our community.

And how can I not mention our amazing town staff who over the years have been so supportive of our vision. Embracing Lewisville as their town, not just a place where they come to work. They have my sincerest gratitude for always having my back and keeping me on the rails. A little challenging at times, but we got through it.

Together, we have accomplished so many things. Way too many to enumerate in the space that I have here. Accomplishments that have collectively created a feeling of peace, calmness and pride. When you leave 421 and enter Lewisville, it's a feeling that we're home. I hope you share this wonderful feeling as well.

There are so many of you I wish to thank for helping to build community and guide me along the way, but my gosh, naming all of you would fill this newsletter. However, you know who you are. You know what you've done through so many acts of selflessness over the years, both great and small. You are why our community is such a special place. And why I've tried to be the best mayor I could be.

I've shared with you stories about growing up in the Florida Keys. Stories about my mother, my father and my family. How they inspired me to strive to do better, to do good and be more than I ever expected I could be. Many of you have inspired me to do the same.

You have become part of my family, and I will be forever grateful.

We have a wonderful future ahead of us. The next council will need your support and advice as you have given to me for so long. Remember, E pluribus unum, from many come one.

While I will no longer be your mayor, I know when we meet again in the grocery store, at our concerts or just around town, you will continue to share with me your thoughts and ideas on how we can make our little town better. And I hope we will smile.

To close this last column, I'll paraphrase a quote from one of my favorite writers, Garrison Keillor.

"Be well, do good work, show kindness and compassion and please, keep in touch."

Thank you, my friends.

tury into growing these "assets," and good shade is hard to come by. We had the will, a great team, a realistic budget, and a good place to put them. So why not?

On July 21, the Public Works crew, along with our excellent grading contractor "Gradeworks" started the dig. We had a good plan and it was executed with precision. The root balls were dug by the excavator, then hand-trimmed to put clean cuts on the roots and pare them down to a size the skid steer could transport. It was intense work and we moved fast to limit the

Michelle completed her undergraduate degree at Barton College and her master's degree at Wake Forest University. She also studied abroad in Argentina.

She retired from teaching high school Spanish after 31 years.

"My goals in teaching were that my students learn Spanish, but also to be good humans," she said. "I really focused on the adage 'it's nice to be important, but it's more important to be nice'".

After retiring from teaching in 2023, Michelle worked as the Bilingual Hospitality Services Coordinator at Ronald McDonald House Charities of the Piedmont Triad (CPT) for two years.

Her event planning experience comes from being the Sunshine Committee Chair at the schools she worked at, as well as positions with the North Carolina Jaycees.

Michelle is a North Carolina native, originally from Wayne County. While she currently lives outside of Town limits, she spent two years as a Lewisville resident. She is also a regular at Town concerts.

In her free time, Michelle enjoys traveling the world, saying that Nice, France, has been her favorite destination. Her daughter, Abbie, is a big part of her life and often travels with her. But when she's not abroad, you'll find her at local trivia nights or spending a quiet evening with her two labradoodles, Daisy and Snoop Dogg, watching true crime or Jeopardy.

Please join us in welcoming Michelle as the newest part of the Town. We are excited to have her on our team and look forward to her contributions and achievements with Lewisville.

Bessie Stogias/Liberty Family Restaurant Receives Town Award

The Town of Lewisville has presented the "I'm One of the Reasons Lewisville is a Great Place to Live" award to Bessie Stogias/Liberty Family Restaurant.

"The Liberty Family Restaurant is a landmark in Lewisville, and has been a local institution and community gathering place for 40 years," Mayor Mike Horn said.

Originally opened by Gus Stogias in 1986, it is now operated by Gus' daughter, Bessie. She took ownership of the restaurant after the passing of her father and continues to keep it alive and thriving.

"I want to thank everybody, and there's so many," Bessie said when she received the award. "We've tried to hold it together... and to all of our family at Liberty, thank you."

Bessie and the Liberty Family Restaurant have been a vital part of the community. She accepted the award at the September Town Council meeting.

Employee Spotlight:
Captain Chris Jester

Meet A-Shift Captain Chris Jester, who started serving with the Lewisville community in 2006 as a high school intern before becoming a resident firefighter. He is passionate about serving his community.

Captain Jester has always loved Lewisville and the small-town feel. He is a third-generation firefighter and has plenty of childhood memories running around the town fire station while his father volunteered in the '90s.

"Climbing into the rig each day, making a difference, and mentoring the next generation" are his favorite parts about the job.

Lewisville is lucky to have Captain Jester protecting us and helping create a better place to live.

Christmas Tree & Lights Safety

- Fresh trees are less likely to catch fire.
- Keep trees at least 3 feet away from heat sources.
- Check all holiday lights for frayed wires, broken bulbs, or loose connections. Never use damaged sets.
- Don't plug too many lights into one outlet. Use power strips with surge protection.
- Always turn off lights before bed or leaving the house.

Blood Donors Needed December 3

Mark your calendars for the upcoming Town Blood Drive on Wednesday, December 3! The Town of Lewisville is partnering with the American Red Cross to host a blood drive that Wednesday from 1-5:30 p.m. at the Mary Alice Warren Community Center, located at 7632 Warren Park Dr.

Register to be a donor by calling 1-800-733-2767 or visiting the website, lewisvillenc.net/blooddrive.

Walk-ins are welcome if space allows, but please consider making an appointment to avoid the wait. Donate blood and help save lives.

Environmental Conservation & Sustainability Committee

We thank all Lewisville residents who came and recycled unusual items at our Special Recycling Event in October. Please continue saving these for the next event in the spring.

In the meantime, challenge yourself to find ways to celebrate the coming holidays by avoiding single-use products. When preparing for company, travel, or festive gatherings, plan ahead for supplies you can use more than once. That could mean getting the good dishes down from the high shelf rather than using disposable plates. Consider gifting friends and relatives with some of the many sustainable products now on the market: laundry sheets, beeswax food wrappers, paper products made from recycled paper, or lidded glass containers for all those holiday leftovers. For delivery boxes, break down the cardboard for your bi-weekly bin or save it for the Town's December 22 to January 2 Cardboard Recycling. Only cardboard, please.

Thinking sustainably is a gift to planet Earth. Of course, the best gift is spending time with loved ones. Enjoy!

Lewisville Safety
Who You Gonna Call?

Most of us know to call 911 in a life-or-death emergency. But what about those everyday situations that still need attention, like bumping into a parked car, a neighbor's dog barking all night, or a suspicious vehicle lingering near your home? That's where the non-emergency number comes in handy: 336-727-2112.

Jacqueline Nunez, Administration Assistant to the Communications Manager and Telecommunicator for the Forsyth County Sheriff's Office, explained the difference and why it matters.

Jacqueline Nunez at her desk

"If there are injuries, call 911. If there are no injuries, call the non-emergency number," Nunez said. She added that there are also situations without injuries that still qualify as emergencies, such as being stranded in the left lane of US 421. In that case, call 911. But if you've made it safely off to the shoulder, the non-emergency line is the right choice.

Both numbers connect you to trained telecommunicators, but they're routed differently. Calls to 911 and the non-emergency line ring with distinct tones, allowing staff to respond more efficiently based on the urgency of the situation.

Using the right number ensures you get the help you need while keeping emergency lines open for life-threatening calls.

So go ahead and take a moment to save 336-727-2112 in your phone, or jot it down to keep it on the fridge. You never know when you might need it.

Speaking of Leaves

It's that time, when the frustrated cries for help come from the folks who don't understand why we don't have leaf and limb pickup in Lewisville. If you've lived here forever, you consider it just a fact of life, but if you've moved in from a place where you had those services, it may be a post-Halloween horror. I hear you. There are two main reasons why Lewisville does not provide this service. One, as you might imagine, is the expense. Start-up costs for a leaf and limb program, including equipment and employees, would easily add 20% or more to the tax rate. Secondly, leaf collection especially is in direct conflict with our storm-water program. We work hard and are actually under a federal mandate to keep our conveyances clear and our local surface waters clean. All the leaves and debris piled in the street can end up filling storm drains, blocking ditches, and clogging culverts. Beyond the traffic headache we see in many other cities, with the streets full of leaf piles, there are significant water quality and flooding concerns.

On the bright side, we're seeing more and more private contractors step into the void and offer this service on demand. If you can't find a spot on your property and you've composted all you can, I encourage you to reach out to one of these companies. Our town's trees are significant assets, and a season of leaves is a small price to pay!
